DUTTON IN TOILS AGAIN.

This Time He Is Accused of Passing Bad
 Checks.

Stephen A. Dutton, who has been arrested several times on charges of swindling and for one offense served a term in Sing Sing Prison, is again in trouble. This time he is accused of passing two worthless checks on Abraham Levin, a broker, of No. 115 Nassau street.

One check was for $250 and the other was for $15. They were drawn on a Chicago bank which has quit business, and bore the signature of John E. Moore. Levin says that Dutton told him that Moore was connected with the Equity Trust and Federal Trust companies of this city.

Dutton refused to give his residence to Magistrate Cornell in the Centre Street Court, but said that he was a speculator. He was held under $1,000 bonds for the Grand Jury.

Dutton was indicted in 1898 on complaint of Miss Lily Alys Godfrey, who accused him of swindling her out of property worth $150,000 by transferring her stock in a concern that was bankrupt. For this he was sent to Sing Sing for three years and was also fined $500.

He escaped the fine by pleading that he would have to stay in jail thirteen years to work it out. He was released two years ago. Previously he was accused of trying to swindle Mrs. Hetty Green and Theodore Havemeyer.

DOG DEARER THAN LIBERTY.

Woman Goes to Cell in Preference to Giving Up Pet.

"I'd rather stay in jail all of my life than self this dog," was the reply Mary Fay, thirty years old, of No. 28 Tenth avenue, made to one of the keepers in the West Side Court Prison this morning when the latter offered to buy the dog from the woman so that she could secure money to pay her fine.

PISTOL DUEL IN A SALOON

Partners Fall Out and Both
 Draw Their Revolvers.

Joseph Regan, who was arrested last night for shooting Edward Lowry in the arms, head and stomach during a duel in a saloon at No. 30 Lexington avenue, was arraigned in Yorkville Court this morning and held in $1,500 bail for further examination, a certificate having been received from the physician at Bellevue Hospital stating that Lowry's condition is not serious, but that he would be unable to appear in court during the day.

According to Regan, he and Lowry went into business a short time ago at No. 30 Lexington avenue. Lowry had no money and he (Regan) put up the necessary cash. Recently Lowry, according to Regan, has been sending threatening letters to him, and one of these, which had been left open, was read by Regan's wife. She became frightened.

Last night, Regan says, he went to the saloon to tell Lowry to stop writing the letters, when the two got into an argument and Lowry, Regan said, pulled a revolver and fired at him, the bullet going through his coat collar. Regan then, he says, pulled his revolver and fired three shots at Lowry.

Regan also stated that last Saturday the Government tax of $30 was due and that Lowry did not have the money to pay it. He then withdrew from the business, and so informed the brewers who supplied the firm with beer. The shooting, Regan says, was witnessed by John Page, the bartender in the saloon.

Patrolman Stephenson, who arraigned Regan, said in court that he had found a dirk knife and a dagger on Regan, besides the revolver.

Regan was struck by but one bullet from Lowry's weapon, and that inflicted only a trifling wound across the forehead.

The men are less than forty years old and have been friends for years. A few weeks ago they opened the saloon in Georgia, and to one supposed that their relations were not amicable and pleasant.

Morality.

(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
 "They have forbidden the sale of cigarettes in Georgia."
 "That so?" I've always claimed that Georgia was a highly moral State.
 "You bet it is. Georgia is full of morality. Look at all the lynchings they have down there."
